

BSS Archangel makes operations and emergency preparedness training easy, accurate...and even interesting.

Using Archangel, your staff—and first responders—will never be better prepared to conduct day-to-day operations or deal with emergencies.

Archangel is a state-of-the-art computer-based training system that's custom-designed for your property. It holds detailed graphic information about your building's operations and safety features. Through authorized, secured access, Archangel shows the internal structure of your building; everything from water and ventilation systems to exit locations, stairwells and fire control rooms becomes visible at the touch of a computer key.

For more on how BSS Archangel can streamline and strengthen your training program, visit www.buildingsafetysolutions.com.

Safety you can see.

BSSonline[®]
Life Safety Training Program

Los Angeles • Chicago • New York
Telephone 800•315•5676
www.buildingsafetysolutions.com

BSSonline:

The safety training program designed to give your tenants, your building managers — and your attorneys — peace of mind.

Until now, life safety training has meant boring classroom sessions, dry videos or old-fashioned safety manuals that a lot of people don't read.

But now there's BSSonline.

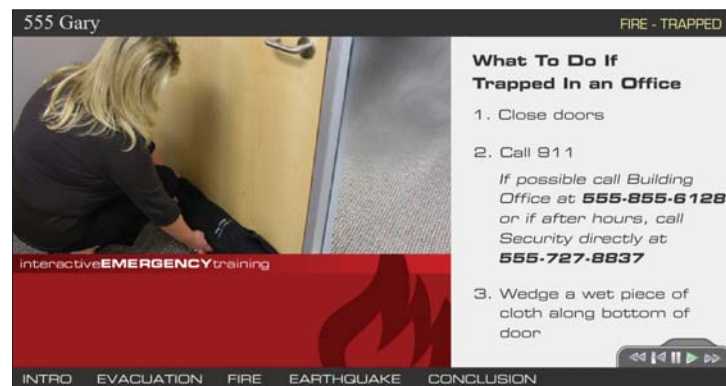

With BSSonline, your tenants and employees, as well as your emergency teams, get all the information they need to respond to most kinds of emergencies via compelling digital images, simulations, narration and text...right at their desks. BSSonline makes safety training come alive. It's a program that can enable people to save themselves.

BSSonline is customized specifically for your building, guiding users step-by-step through an interactive, comprehensive training program they can access any time of the day or night via the Internet.

BSSonline does even more than preserve life and protect your building. It's actually an investment that can increase its value. Its simplicity and effectiveness can make a building more attractive to prospective tenants and enhance its value to potential purchasers. And by reducing risks of property damage and loss of life, it may even reduce insurance premiums.

How BSSonline works

BSSonline provides an easy-to-understand interactive overview of your building's emergency response procedures as well as its fire and life safety systems and equipment. The program's state-of-the-art multimedia format includes online training modules custom produced for your building. Users can see fellow occupants demonstrating evacuation procedures. 3-D models of their building will provide them with a compelling orientation of key emergency components such as stairwells and escape routes.

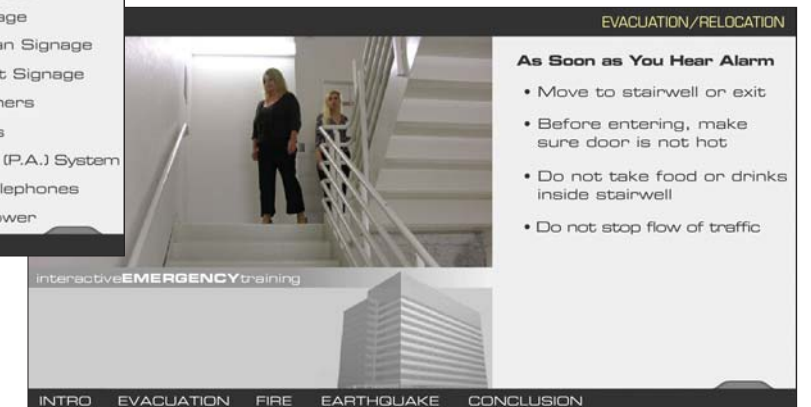

Diagrams and digital images show exiting routes, safe refuge areas and fire and life safety equipment. BSSonline clearly shows your tenants and their employees what they should do in an emergency.

Its online multiple-choice quizzes reinforce learning and can ensure compliance. Built-in management tools include online logs that allow management to monitor usage of BSSonline by tenants and employees, thereby reducing its liability.

BSSonline is invaluable

- BSSonline ensures compliance with municipal ordinances that require fire drills and other building emergency training for occupants.
- It reduces the expense of hiring professional safety trainers.
- Building management can administer emergency response and disaster preparedness programs right from their desks. It's efficient, expedient and cost-effective.
- It differentiates your building from others — an attractive plus for leasing agents.
- Building Safety Solutions is committed to promoting the program in your building via brochures and other promotional efforts.
- Employees and building occupants can take their safety training whenever it's most convenient for them, reducing workday interference.
- Program updates and upgrades are achieved at little or no cost.
- To maintain security, the system includes the latest in access-control technologies.
- BSSonline has been approved by police, firemen and other first responders across the nation.

Tenants have ongoing instant access to safety measures like emergency procedures and easy-to-understand evacuation diagrams.

Contact Building Safety Solutions to learn more about BSSonline.

"BSSonline takes emergency training to a new level for building owners and managers. We look forward to our tenants using this for years to come."

—Operations Manager, Honolulu, Hawaii

"The product itself is excellent.."

—General Manager, Atlanta

"...one of the top new products of 2004."

—Buildings Magazine

BSSonline is approved by fire departments