Los Angeles Unified School District Renews Contract with BSS

PASADENA, CALIF. (July 1, 2011) — The Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD) has renewed its contract with Building Safety Solutions Inc. (BSS). BSS provides their award-winning online life-safety training program, BSS Guardian™, and their BSS LAFD Certification Programs to train employees in the LAUSD Headquarters building.

The over 45,000 teachers in the LAUSD educate over a million students: almost 700,000 children, in over a thousand K-12 schools, plus almost 400,000 adults, in adult education classes. The towering LAUSD Headquarters building is situated just west of Downtown L.A.

BSS Guardian is world's leading life-safety training and alert system. Employing 3-D renders, Flash animation, and professional narration, this state-of-the-art program can be installed either as a Web-based product or as a part of an organization's learning management system.

BSS Guardian empowers employees with the information they need about their workplace so that they can respond quickly, think clearly, and react appropriately during a crisis event — whether caused by human error, equipment malfunction, or natural or man-made disaster.

BSS Guardian prepares and tests employees — and monitors their compliance — via an interactive program that is delivered to their desktop computers. With material specific to their workplace, this scalable, modular program presents accurate, consistent, and reliable content for their training.

BSS Guardian also provides employees with actionable, potentially life-saving information that is readily accessible on their smartphones or other PDAs during emergencies.

With its reliable, proven methods to comply with local, state, and federal codes, BSS Guardian protects an organization's most valuable assets — its employees — and thus minimizes liability and maximizes value for employers and shareholders.

BSS LAFD Certification Programs include a unique, user-friendly, three-step process that guarantees the applicant's passing the Los Angeles Fire Department test required for certification as a fire safety director, assistant fire safety director, floor warden, or alternate floor warden.

Approved by the City of Los Angeles Fire Department, BSS LAFD Certification Programs ensure compliance with the law and thus help organizations avoid fines, monetary damages, and unnecessary exposure to liabilities. Ultimately, BSS LAFD Certification Programs protect brands and reputations.
